COVID-19 Alters 2021 Lion Relays

For well over 30 years Castleberry High School has hosted a track meet. In 1987 CHS dug up their ancient cinder track and replaced it with a new all-weather track (which since then has also been upgraded and replaced). Every year since then CHS has invited other schools to compete in the Lion Relays. Since that time the track meet became one of the best and largest track meets in the area. Each year anywhere from 10 to 14 schools (boys and girls) have competed in the meet.

However, that will change dramatically this year. The UIL, in an effort to limit very large numbers of competitors in all sports, has set a limit to the number of teams that can compete in an invitational track meet. In 2021 that number is four. This means the Lion Relays this year will be about one-third the size than in past years.

As has been the tradition for many years since the meet began it will again take place on the last Saturday in February (Feb. 27 this year). The teams competing against Castleberry will come from Alvarado, Gainesville, and South Hills. There will be four divisions – varsity boys, varsity girls, junior varsity boys, and junior varsity girls. The meet will take place at the Castleberry High School track facility (located just south of W.O. Barnes stadium/behind the high school). Field events begin at 8 a.m. Running events begin at 9:30 a.m.

This will be a great opportunity to come out and support our “Flying Lions.”

New Remote Learning Days for CISD Students

The 2020-2021 school year has brought many challenges, including teachers having to teach both in-person and online simultaneously. Considering these challenges, it is essential for teachers to have time to collaboratively plan for the best educational opportunities for their students.

Therefore, the Board of Education has approved three planning days for teachers and staff as they continue to offer online learning for students. The approved dates are Friday, Feb. 19, Friday, March 26 and Friday, April 23.

“This opportunity allows teachers to really dive into their data to plan engaging and individualized instruction for their students,” Secondary Math Coordinator, Scott Hutchings, stated after hearing of the Board’s decision.

On these teacher planning days, students will work remotely from home at their own pace through course content provided by teachers. Students will receive attendance credit by completing the required course work by 11:59 p.m. that evening.

“Castleberry ISD appreciates each and every employee, student, and family member who has gone above and beyond during this unprecedented school year,” said Associate Superintendent of Teaching, Learning, and Innovation, Renee Smith-Faulkner.

TexasRentRelief.com to learn more about qualifications, required documents, and the application process.

“The COVID-19 pandemic has placed a significant financial strain on many Texans, and the Texas Rent Relief Program will provide an incredible lifeline to households in need of assistance on their rent and utility payments,” said Governor Abbott.

Speaker Dade Phelan said, “This program is a key component of our state’s pandemic recovery effort and will be essential to the rebound of our economy, workforce, and education system. I am thrilled that qualifying Texas families have an avenue for temporary relief on essential items like rent and utility payments when it truly counts the most.”

To qualify, households must be at or below 80 percent of the area median income as well as meet other criteria. Per federal guidelines, TDHCA will prioritize applications for households at or below 50 percent of the area median income level and households where one or more members are currently unemployed and have been for at least 90 days. Landlords are encouraged to apply on behalf of tenants, who must co-sign the application.

Applicants can submit their application by calling 1-833-9TX-RENT (1-833-989-7368) or submitting it online at TexasRentRelief.com.

The call center will be open Monday through Saturday, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Obituary

Loren Wallace Watkins

Following a brief illness, Loren Wallace Watkins (SMSGT, Retired, USAF) passed from this life on Jan. 31, 2021.

Born to Murrel and Bertha (Anders) Watkins in Tryon, Okla., on Oct. 21, 1935, Loren was raised in Agra, Okla., the oldest of four brothers and one sister.

He met his wife, Freida Owensby, on a blind double date (they were NOT each other's date) and married on Sept. 17, 1953. They were married for 67 years and raised five children while traveling with the U.S. Air Force. Among his tours of duty, Loren served three years in Guam and twice in Vietnam. Retiring from the U.S. Air Force after 25 years, Loren went on to work another 20 years for General Dynamics/Lockheed.

Loren was known for his acerbic wit and ability to repair almost anything. Many a young adult received their first auto upkeep lesson from "Papa." Loren was a favorite uncle and much-loved husband, father, grandfather, and great grandfather. Photos frequently show him from behind holding an infant (his own child, a grandchild, or great grandchild) on his shoulder.

Loren was preceded in death by his parents, three brothers, son-in-law, Thomas Fruge, and son, Stephen Watkins. Loren is survived by his wife, Freida, his daughters Lorna Duke (Dennis), Dorothy Beam (Warren), Nancy Fruge, and Stephanie Steen (Wayne), sister, Karen Witte, as well as 14 grandchildren, 21 great grandchildren, and 2 great-great grandchildren.

Graveside services will be held Feb. 20, 2021, 2 p.m., at Greenwood Cemetery in Fort Worth, Texas. Masks will be required, and social distancing enforced.

Loren often said, "Charity begins at home." In that spirit the family requests that in lieu of flowers, you save your money and do something nice for yourself or someone else. In the alternative, donate to your favorite charity.

River Oaks Police Department Crime Report

Officers from the River Oaks Police Department were dispatched to the post office located in the 1100 block of Roberts Cut Off in reference to burglary of post office boxes. Upon arrival, officers discovered multiple post office boxes had been forced open and their contents removed. Officers took the initial report and the case has been adopted by the United States Postal Inspectors.

Officers were dispatched to a residence in the 1700 block of Melba in reference to a call of criminal mischief. Upon arrival, officers discovered that the residence was an unoccupied rent house. Officers found that someone had made entry into the residence by using the crawl space under the floor of the house and prying up several pieces of wooden flooring. No property was reported missing at the time of the report. The property owner estimated it will cost $1,000 to repair the damage to the floor. Officers completed an offense report and detectives will be working to identify the actor in this case.

Tuesday, Feb. 2

Officers located a vehicle (which fled from them in last week's crime blog) in the parking lot of a gas station in the 2600 block of Jacksboro Highway. Officers were able to run the plate and learned that the vehicle had been reported as stolen out of Fort Worth. Officers approached the vehicle prior to it being able to pull out and contacted a lone female sitting in the driver's seat of the vehicle. This female advised that she had been driving the car and that she had just received it from a "friend". While speaking with the female, officers observed several syringes in plain view inside the vehicle. This female was subsequently placed into custody. During a search of the vehicle officers found a handgun under the driver seat along with a loaded syringe containing what is believed to be methamphetamine. This female subject was transported to the River Oaks Police Department and booked for Unauthorized Use of a Motor Vehicle, Possession of a Controlled Substance, and Felon in Possession of a Firearm. During booking, officers located additional methamphetamine hidden on the female's person.

Officers were dispatched to a residence in the 5500 block of Gilbow in reference to a stolen vehicle. Upon arrival, officers spoke with the victim who advised that she was warning up her 2008 Chevy Tahoe in her driveway. The victim advised that she went into her house leaving her vehicle in the driveway running. The victim advised that her neighbor observed a male subject get into the vehicle and drive away. Officers completed an offense report and detectives will be working to identify the car thief.

Officers were dispatched to a business in the 4700 block of River Oaks Blvd in reference to a vehicle burglary. Upon arrival, officers were shown video surveillance of a male entering rummaging through one of the vehicles parked on the parking lot. Officers completed an offense report for Burglary of a Motor Vehicle and detectives will be working to identify the actor in this case.

Wednesday, Feb. 3

Officers were dispatched to a residence in the 1200 block of Banks in reference to a vehicle burglary. Upon arrival, officers spoke with the victim who advised that he caught a man inside his unlocked vehicle in front of his residence. The victim advised that this male subject took an Apple IPAD and fled the scene on foot. The victim further advised that the IPAD had a tracker on it and he could tell the subject was one street over from their location. Officers began tracking this IPAD with the hopes of finding the actor. Officers ultimately found the IPAD abandoned under a rock in the storm drain located in the 4700 block of White Oak. Officers completed a report for Burglary of a Motor Vehicle.

Thursday, Feb. 4

Officers conducted a traffic stop in the 5000 block of River Oaks Blvd after observing a vehicle driving down the roadway with no headlights on. Officers spoke with the vehicle's occupants and noted that the front seat passenger was holding a clear glass pipe which is commonly used to smoke methamphetamines. A search of the vehicle turned up additional glass pipes and over a gram of suspected methamphetamine under the driver's seat. The driver was subsequently arrested for Possession of a Controlled Substance and transported to the River Oaks Police Department for booking.

Texas History Minute

Writer and Professor, J. Frank Dobie by Dr. Ken Bridges

Great storytelling is an honored tradition across the South and the Southwest. Texas, with its long history of engaging characters and adventures, has produced many tales to tell. Perhaps one of the most respected storytellers was writer and professor J. Frank Dobie.

Born James Frank Dobie on Sept. 26, 1888, a love of literature and the open prairie was instilled in him from birth. The family lived on a modest ranch in Live Oak County in South Texas. Dobie was the oldest of six children, and he worked the ranch with his family from a young age. In the evenings, after the day's chores had been completed, his father read to him and the other children from the family Bible while his mother read classic works of literature to them.

In order to finish high school, Dobie moved in with his grandparents in nearby Alice in 1904. After his 1906 graduation, he enrolled at Southwestern University in Georgetown. Armed with an education, life moved quickly for Dobie. After earning his bachelors degree, he began writing for a number of newspapers for a year before accepting a teaching position in 1911. Two years later, he left for Columbia University in New York City to pursue a masters degree in English. He returned to Texas in 1914 and began teaching at the University of Texas.

Dobie enlisted in the army as the United States entered World War I in 1917. After serving in the artillery for two years, he returned to the university in 1919. After his military experiences, he began expressing himself more with the written word and began publishing stories and studies of aspects of folklore in 1919. He joined the Texas Folklore Society to preserve folk tales and stories of the unique culture of the Southwest, rising to secretary of the organization by 1922.

His first major work was a short, clever booklet titled Weather Wisdom of the Texas-Mexican Border in 1923, noting how rain is never a subject far from the thoughts of Texas ranchers and farmers. Dobie wrote, "Everyone knows and quotes the saying, 'Nobody but a fool or a newcomer will prophesy the weather in Texas' – a saying vaunted before strangers but never remembered in their absence." The tome was filled with stories of how watching different animals can foretell the weather as well as his own stories of growing up in South

Texas before closing with the warning, "Be it remembered, all Texans have a saying, 'In dry weather all signs fail.'"

Dobie also played a role in preventing longhorn cattle from disappearing. He had been part of the university for several years when students chose the longhorn as the mascot in 1917. However, longhorns had fallen out of favor with ranchers and steadily fewer were being bred. Dobie grew concerned about the deteriorating numbers of the longhorn, and he started writing about them in 1920. He persuaded several ranchers and benefactors to buy a number of longhorns to stock at state parks starting in the 1920s and 1930s. As a result, more attention began to be brought to the iconic creatures, and their reputation as a symbol of Texas and reputation as livestock steadily increased. He completed a book on the life and legends of the breed in The Longhorns in 1941.

He wrote on his most famous works, the award-winning "Coronado's Children" in 1930. The book amassed tales of treasure-hunters and lost treasures. Ultimately, Dobie would publish more than 20 books in his lifetime, including "Tales of the Mustang" in 1936 and "The Roadrunner in Fact and Folk-lore" in 1939.

By 1939, he had a weekly newspaper column in which he not only discussed Texas culture but railed against the political injustices of the day. The state legislature became a frequent target of his barbs. He openly called for integrating the University of Texas in the early 1940s, leading him to clash with numerous state leaders. His fame grew to where he was invited to teach American History at Cambridge University during World War II.

In 1944, while still overseas, he angrily protested the firing of a fellow UT professor for his liberal views, leading to his own dismissal by 1947.

Later in his life, a new generation of Texas leaders came to appreciate Dobie's work and influence. On Sept. 14, 1964, President Lyndon B. Johnson awarded the Presidential Medal of Freedom to Dobie in honor of his long career. The award from a fellow Texan was a great affirmation of his writing and the controversial stands he had taken throughout his life. The ailing Dobie died four days later. A large crowd gathered for his funeral, which was held on the University of Texas campus.

Dobie was honored after his death. A number of books have been written about him. A post office in San Antonio was named for him as well as the Dobie Center at the University of Texas. Dobie High School opened in Houston in 1968. Middle schools in Cibolo and Austin as well as an elementary school in Dallas now honor the famed writer.

From the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department

Wildlife Experts Ask for Public Help in Reporting Bat Mortality Events

Last winter, White-nose Syndrome (WNS) was detected in bats in 18 counties in central Texas and the disease has continued to spread. The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department (TPWD) is monitoring its progression through the state and is asking for the public’s help to understand how WNS is affecting vulnerable bat populations.

“Last year, we received reports of bats dying or acting strange from around the state” said Nathan Fuller, a TPWD bat biologist. “Unfortunately, we expect the same thing to happen this winter and we are asking Texans to be on the lookout for distressed bats. Texas is a big state and we can monitor bats much more effectively with more eyes out there looking for bats.”

WNS is a fungal disease that affects hibernating bats during the winter. As the name suggests, WNS presents as a white, fungal growth on the ears, nose and wings of hibernating bats. Researchers believe that the fungus that causes WNS, Pseudogymnoascus destructans, was inadvertently introduced to North America from Europe sometime in the mid-2000s.

Fuller says that winter is a dangerous time for bats as, after hibernating for a few months, bats with WNS start to run out of fat in January or February.

"Once this happens, bats often leave their roosts in search of food or as an attempt to escape the disease and unfortunately, the animals usually don’t survive," said Fuller. "However, if we know where bats are in the most trouble, we can enact measures to protect the survivors and give them a chance to recover.”

The pathogen that causes WNS is thought to be spread by bats through contact with other bats or contact with contaminated surfaces. The fungus grows optimally in low temperatures and as a result, remains in bat hibernation sites long after they have left their roosts in the spring.

Since the first observation of WNS in upstate New York in 2006, the disease has spread throughout North America. Wildlife experts believe that millions of bats have succumbed to the disease. The actual number is unknown because of the difficulties associated with monitoring bat populations. The disease is not a risk to humans.

Bats are a critical part of the Texas ecosystem, with more than 30 species of bats calling the state home.

“Bats provide billions of dollars in pest control services by eating insects that damage crops,” Fuller said. “Without bats, food costs could increase. They are also sensitive to environmental contaminants and other damage and so they can act as indicators of ecosystem health and function.”

TPWD is asking the public to send reports of dead bats that are found to wns@tpwd.texas.gov. Those sending a report are asked to include a general location and, if possible, a photograph. Biologists say that people should not handle live bats or bat carcasses with bare hands.

Learn more about WNS on the TPWD YouTube Channel.
