Obituary

Donna Uptmore Holt

Donna Uptmore Holt passed peacefully at home on Oct. 16, 2023 surrounded with love by her beloved husband, Jackie Holt and daughters Rakisha, Alison and Shea.

Donna was born Sept. 15, 1948 to Alvin and Estelle Uptmore. She shared her childhood home with siblings, Dianne Pilotte, Debbie Deatherage and Clifford Uptmore.

Despite having beautiful, handmade dolls and dresses, she was a tomboy at heart and preferred jeans and a BB gun.

She met the love of her life Jackie Roy Holt in high school, and they were married on April 6, 1968. Their love is like no other, a rare kind of love. He adored her and she would do anything for him. Their first born, Rakisha Chenault, made her appearance on Oct. 21, 1971 in Irving, Texas.

Shortly after, they moved to their lifelong home in Fort Worth, Texas. They were later blessed with the births of Alison Holt-Fuller on Sept. 17, 1974 and Shea Holt July 3, 1980. Motherhood was her passion. Her daughters were her first and final thoughts of the day. She raised them to know that they could do anything. She always had time to help with an art project, or to raise their spirits. She had all the answers, and if she didn't, she would figure it out. Most importantly, she raised them with unfaltering love, sacrifice and the knowledge that family is everything. Her love had no boundaries and was extended through her immediate family to those who came to know them. By setting the stage and having an open-door policy the family gatherings were always abundant with good food and genuine laughter.

She not only raised three beautiful and successful women, but she also contributed to much of their children's growth. She showered her grandchildren, Holt and Haden Chenault and Stella and Sadie Lamb with love and attention. Her tender-hearted nature and steadfastness for what is right prevailed as a guiding path and as an example of how to love and care for others. She gave much grace, courage, and support to her children and her grandchildren to chase their dreams and to never shy away from a hard fight. She nourished the parts of us that we typically tend to overlook or not entertain, our imagination, our creativity, and our ability to be great. Donna led this life with the grace of God and raised a family to know and trust in Christ.

From Take Care of Texas
Put Waste in Its Place

These tips offer some insight as to how Texans can cut down on waste that goes into landfills and down drainage pipes that can pollute waterways.

- Don't put fats, oil, or grease down the drain. It can cause pipes to clog, resulting in costly repairs and environmental contamination. Collect them in a container and dispose of it in the trash.
- Keeping your tires properly inflated can extend their life by almost 5,000 miles. When your tires can no longer be used, recycle them.
- Recycle used motor oil. The used oil from one oil change can contaminate 1 million gallons of fresh water – a year's supply for 50 people.
- Don't throw rechargeable batteries in the trash. Recycle them at your local home improvement and electronics retailers or community collection drop-off sites, where available.
- Each Texan generates about six and a half pounds of garbage each day. Reduce waste by buying less. Purchase only what you need, buy reusable products, and avoid items with a lot of packaging.

Items such as food, yard trimmings, paper, glass, metal, and plastics account for over 80 percent of household trash. Make a huge impact by composting and recycling as many of these items as possible.

- The average household has 28 electronic devices. Consider purchasing refurbished electronics. Also, donate used electronics or recycle these devices if they are no longer working.

If a collection opportunity exists in your community, take household hazardous waste, such as used fluorescent light bulbs, drain cleaner, and pesticides, to a community collection site or event.

Check out the website for resources for recycling and disposing of your waste at TakeCareOfTexas.org/land.

American Composer and Pianist, Scott Joplin by Dr. Ken Bridges

Scott Joplin was an early musician who transformed much of the landscape of popular music in the early 1900s. Though many details of his short life are uncertain, his impact on early American music is undeniable.

Joplin was born just after the Civil War in 1867 or 1868 possibly in East Texas, though even his place of birth is not entirely certain. His parents had been slaves. When he was young, the family moved to nearby Texarkana where his father worked on the railroad that effectively created the city. As a child, he learned piano and classical music from a variety of tutors in Texarkana.

In 1885, he left home, travelling across the country and playing piano in bars and houses of ill repute or anywhere he could find work. Joplin also attended college briefly to further study music theory and composition. Between 1895 and 1917, he published more than 80 songs, including classical music, operas, and a new form of popular music, ragtime.

Ragtime was known for its upbeat tempo, often played on piano or accompanied by fiddles, banjos, or trumpets. Joplin tied this new music in with classical musical theory with far less improvisation and turned it into an art form. By the mid-1890s, he was touring with his own group, the Texas Medley Quartet. His band performed at the 1893 Chicago World's Fair to wide acclaim. Music historians believe his performances started a ragtime craze in the country. In 1899, the Maple Leaf Rag, was published and became the most popular sheet music sold that year.

He moved to St. Louis in 1900 with his new wife, where he concentrated on teaching and composing. However, a string of tragedies began to unravel his life. An infant daughter died not long after his arrival in St. Louis, and he and his wife divorced. One of his operas, The Guest of Honor (1903), was a failure. His second marriage to Freddie Alexander of Little Rock ended when she died just 10 weeks after their 1904 wedding.

Joplin moved to New York in 1907 and remarried. In 1910, he completed his next opera. Treemonisha was set in Rondo, just east of Texarkana, in the 1880s. In the story, a young woman on a plantation learns to read and write and discovers that education is a defense against fear and superstition that crippled her community. Crushed by poor reception of his opera, bankrupt, and his physical health collapsing, he had a nervous breakdown and was committed to a hospital in early 1917. He died three months later, not yet 50 years old.

After Joplin's passing, his influence only grew. Many musicians continued to imitate his style, and ragtime music remained extremely popular, ultimately inspiring the genre of jazz by the 1920s and the big band music of the 1930s and 1940s. His Maple Leaf Rag was used often for the soundtracks of several movies made in the 1920s and 1930s.

In 1973, composer Marvin Hamlisch adapted Joplin's popular song from 1902, The Entertainer, for the musical score for the film The Sting, which starred Robert Redford and Paul Newman. The next year, Joplin was awarded a special posthumous Academy Award for Best Song. Portions of Treemonisha also began to be performed for audiences in the 1970s.

In 1976, he was awarded an honorary Pulitzer Prize for his contribution to American music. Joplin's music came to embody the early 20th century for many Americans as they looked back to the seemingly simpler times of nearly a century before.

Overall, the nation again came to appreciate the unheralded artistic genius of Scott Joplin, the man who inspired so much of the music that America has enjoyed through the years.

Quick Repair Projects to Prep Your Home for Winter

It's fall, which means it's time to roll up your sleeves, make minor fixes and prepare your home before it's time to hunker down for winter. Here are four easy DIY projects that will ensure your humble abode is in tip-top shape before the cold weather arrives.

Patch It Up

If you experienced storms this past season, survey your home's exterior for any damage. Take a walk around the grounds and look at the siding and the condition of the roof, including the garage and porch.

Use waterproof tape to temporarily patch small holes in vinyl siding, loose shingles or leaks in your gutter. The tape is formulated to withstand extreme temperatures, so it can be used for any indoor or outdoor job that requires a waterproof seal.

Making quick repairs will save you from expensive water damage costs down the road and help prevent any further issues arising during the cold weather season.

Lawn Improvement

As the leaves fall off the trees and onto the ground, an alternative to raking is to pull out the lawn mower. Trim the leaves into smaller pieces, which can then be used as natural mulch around the yard and garden. Layer the compost around perennial beds or other plants to provide insulation and protection through the winter.

Mid-to-late fall, with the warm soil and cool air, is also an ideal time for planting grass seed, and fertilizing and filling in holes with the leaf compost. This will put you on a path to a greener lawn next spring.

Prepare the Deck

Before the first cold front approaches, make sure to clean up the patio or deck and store outdoor umbrellas, cushions and rugs in a safe spot in the garage or shed. If you notice any rot or wetness on the deck, it can be a simple fix by replacing the wood boards or using a wood filler to prevent further damage.

Winterize large patio furniture and protect items that are staying outside with a weatherproof cover. To keep the covers in place, secure them to the bottom of the furniture.

Squeaky Clean Exterior

Once the patio is prepped, turn your attention to the rest of the exterior. Debris and stains collected on the outside of the house during summer can set over the winter, so it's a good idea to power wash away the dirt. Start with the driveway, deck and windows and then take time to wash the siding and gutters, as long as you spray water in a direction that won't force it behind the siding or under shingles. This project will help remove lingering grime, mold and mildew and ensure the outside area is clean and ready for winter.

After checking off these projects on your fall list, your home will be properly prepped so you can relax, slow down and enjoy the season.

Meals On Wheels of Tarrant County Needs Volunteers
