Animal Care and Control Appreciation Week April 9 - 15

At last week's City Council meeting, Mayor Pro Tem Amber Munoz read a proclamation naming April 9 through 15 as Animal Care and Control Appreciation Week. This is a week to recognize, thank, and commend Animal Control Officers and Animal Control Services Staff for the dedicated service they provide. Members of the Protecting the Animals of White Settlement (PAWS) team were on hand to receive the proclamation.

Bears and Lady Bears Compete on the Diamond

The Brewer softball team picked up a victory against Granbury last Thursday in a game that coach Amye Guin called a "much needed win" to start the second half of district play.

Mia Serrato, Kaylee Ramirez, Karlie Landrum, and Alena Urias each had multiple hits for Brewer in the victory over the Lady Pirates.

Blair Shipman picked up the win for the Lady Bears.

With the first half of district play wrapped up, Brewer is in the thick of the playoff hunt, but Guin said that is not the focus at the moment.

"Currently, we are playing well," Guin said. "To me, the playoffs are all about who shows up that day. Anyone has a chance to win or lose; it's all about your mindset going into it. To get there we need to keep our focus on just playing our best each inning and then letting everything else fall into place. Control the controllable, have fun and don't regret (continued on page 3)

one thing.”

Brewer plays Saginaw this week, and Guin said, “Saginaw has been playing teams very close, including us, all throughout district play and I expect nothing less from them going into our second meet up,” Guin said on Saturday. “We are going to have to be ready to play every inning. They had some nice bats the first time around and we need to expect it again. For us we just need to play our game, minimize errors and get the bats going early.”

In baseball, the Brewer boys rallied from a game one loss against Granbury last Tuesday to win game two by a score of 2-1 on Thursday.

Coach Gilbert Ramirez said he was particularly proud of his battery in the second Granbury game.

“Jayden Ayala Hinojosa had an outstanding pitching performance, going all seven innings and getting the win,” Ramirez said.

“He was able to get big outs and induced double plays to end two innings. He also did a great job, along with catcher Blayne Senger, controlling the running game and didn't allow a stolen base.”

Other strong efforts against in the series included Jesse Orozco (3-6, 3 doubles, 4 RBI - Game winning 2 RBI double in the 5th inning of game 2) Brayeden Squires (3-6), and Peyton Taff (2-6).

Ramirez said he felt like his team competed well against Granbury.

“I feel like we did a much better job of putting the ball in play this series and had several hard-hit balls that were hit right at the defense,” Ramirez said. “Our guys were able to stay patient and Jesse was able to get the big hit when we needed it. Jayden did a great job on the mound and was able to keep a good-hitting Granbury team off balance all night. I was also proud of how our defense played. We had two inning ending double plays, made several great defensive plays and Jayden and Blayne controlled the running game against a team that likes to run.”

The Bears play Saginaw this week and Ramirez said “we are expecting another tough district series.”

Four Ways to Get Involved This Global Volunteer Month

Global Volunteer Month, celebrated throughout April, is a time to recognize people who actively support their communities through volunteerism and active civic engagement. It's also a time to get in on the action. However, if you're like many people, you may not know where to begin.

Research from Points of Light, a global nonprofit organization dedicated to inspiring, equipping and mobilizing people to take action that changes the world, shows 73 percent of people believe that volunteering is more important than ever, yet 66 percent think they can't make a big impact in their communities. Global Volunteer Month can help point people in the right direction.

"April is an annual opportunity for companies and nonprofits to inspire individuals to action, share stories of those doing good, and create a pathway for continued engagement," said Diane Quest, interim president and CEO, Points of Light.

This year, Points of Light is partnering with leading sponsor Phillips 66 and supporting sponsor UPS to encourage individuals, nonprofits and corporate partners to engage in their communities. As part of the campaign, they are sharing four great ways to participate:

1. Stay Local: While volunteering with any type of mission can help to better the world, people tend to be more impacted by volunteer opportunities from which they can observe the fruits of their labor. Collaborate with local nonprofits to affect change in the place where you live, work and play. Visit Points of Light Engage, <https://engage.pointsoflight.org/>, to find an opportunity today in your city or zip code and winners in grades 5, 7, 8 and 12 this year. The fifth-grade winner, Paige Ball, from Westpark Elementary was accompanied by her parents Robby and Auva Ball. The seventh-grade winner Elise Cannon from St. Rita Catholic School was accompanied by her mother Marion Cannon. The eighth-grade winner Samuel Gulde, a student at Daggett Montessori School, was accompanied by his parents Matt and Sally Gulde and his teacher Michael Hatch.

Winner of the Patriots of the American Revolution Essay Contest was senior Julia Guinn from Nolan Catholic High School who was accompanied by her parents Shawn and Cathleen Guinn.

For information about finding your Revolutionary War Patriot or to join with other Daughters in a service society, call 817-233-9628 or 817-939-8226.

based on your interests.

2. Volunteer With Friends and Family: Families can support their communities by volunteering together. Consider working at a local food bank, participating in community clean-up initiatives, or organizing donation drives for local charities. Volunteering as a family not only provides a chance for quality time together but also encourages children to develop empathy and social responsibility. By volunteering, families can strengthen relationships, build community connections, and make a positive impact in their communities.

3. Recognize and Expand What You're Already Doing: While many of us think about volunteering in a formal way with longer time commitments and structures, civic engagement comes in all forms. Informal actions like helping a neighbor and leveraging your purchase power all make up civic action. Ask yourself: how could I take three to five actions around one cause area that's important to me to make greater impact? Find out how through the Points of Light Civic Circle <https://www.pointsoflight.org/civic-circle/>.

4. Say a Simple Thank You: At its core, Global Volunteer Month is about thanking those already volunteering and making an impact. Take a minute to send a thank you to a special volunteer in your life or an organization that is giving its time and talent to make your community stronger.

"There are many paths to living a full, civic life. Now is the perfect time to make a plan to join the celebration, today and every day," says Quest.

Texas Military & Political Official - Richard Bache, Jr. by Dr. Ken Bridges

When the United States became independent in 1776, Texas was far from the scene. However, one of the key figures of that era, Benjamin Franklin, still had an impact on Texas and its own independence decades later.

Richard Bache, Jr., Franklin's grandson, fought in the Texas Revolution, served in the Texas navy, and served in the first sessions of the Texas State Senate.

Richard Bache, Jr., was born in Philadelphia in 1784. His father, Richard Bache, Sr., was the second postmaster general of the United States, following Benjamin Franklin in the position and serving in the midst of the American Revolution from 1776 to 1782. He had married Franklin's only daughter, Sarah, several years earlier and had eight children with her.

As a child, Bache had gotten to know his famous grandfather, who died in Philadelphia in 1790. His brothers and cousins achieved varying degrees of fame and success as engineers and publishers, following in their famous grandfather's footsteps in one way or another. In 1798, he watched his older brother, Benjamin Franklin Bache, run afoul of the notorious Alien and Sedition Acts when his newspaper, the Aurora, printed articles critical of President John Adams. Unfortunately, he died before the case went to trial.

Bache attended Philadelphia schools and eventually enrolled at the University of Pennsylvania. He graduated in 1812 just before the War of 1812 erupted. Once this new war with Great Britain erupted, he organized a volunteer artillery unit. The Philadelphia-based Franklin Flying Artillery earned acclaim during the war, with Bache serving as captain. He also briefly served in the navy.

After the war ended, he served as postmaster of Philadelphia, serving from 1815 to 1828. It was this same position that his grandfather occupied from 1737 to 1753, making Bache part of the third generation in his family to serve as a postal executive.

Because of his family's reputation, Bache maintained close connections with politicians across Pennsylvania. In 1805, he married Sophia Dallas, the daughter of United States Attorney Alexander Dallas. Alexander Dallas rose to become Secretary of the Treasury under President James Madison in 1814, while his son George, the namesake for the present-day City of Dallas, became vice-president under President James K. Polk in 1845. The Baches' marriage produced nine children.

In 1832, Bache fled to Texas under a cloud of suspicion, leaving his family behind. The reasons were never clear. Some biographers suggested he fled debt collectors while others point to whispers of accusations that embezzlement had occurred at the Philadelphia post office during his tenure as postmaster. However, no charges of any illegal activity were ever filed.

He settled in the Brazoria area near modern-day Houston. When the Texas Revolution reached Southeast Texas in spring 1836, Bache joined the Louisiana Independent Volunteers to continue the fight. He was part of the San Jacinto campaign in April 1836 when Mexican Gen. Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna was captured in the aftermath. Gen. Sam Houston made him part of the group of soldiers guarding Santa Anna.

Under the administration of Texas President Mirabeau B. Lamar, the Texas navy was re-established. In 1838, Bache served as chief clerk for the new navy. With the purchase of the steamship Zavala, Bache dusted off his experience from the United States Navy and served Texas on the high seas on the new vessel.

In 1842, he moved to Galveston to serve as commissioner of the navy yard and as customs collector. Shortly afterward, he was elected a justice of the peace, a small-claims court judge, for Galveston County.

By 1845, the question of annexation to the United States again emerged. Many people in the United States and Texas alike were excited about the prospect of the merger. Bache was selected as a delegate to the Annexation Convention. However, Bache was in the minority and voted against annexation; but his reasons were more personal than political. As his grandfather had a falling out with his own parents and his own son throughout his life, Bache periodically would find himself at odds with members of his own family. After his brother-in-law, George Dallas, became vice-president, Bache soured on the idea of annexation because he did not want to give him a political victory.

Nevertheless, Bache was a delegate at the state constitutional convention and helped craft the first state constitution in 1845. He was also elected to the first session of the new Texas State Senate, representing the Galveston area. He continued to serve in the senate until his sudden death three years later.

His children went on to lead impressive lives of their own. His eldest son, Alexander Bache, was a noted scientist and led what later became known as the U.S. Geodetic Survey. Three of his daughters married men who had considerable achievements. One son-in-law became a congressman while another became Secretary of the Treasury while a third, Gen. William Emory was a noted surveyor along the border between Mexico and the United States.

Bache died in Austin in 1848 at age 64.
