Brewer Bear Varsity Football to Face Frisco Wakeland Aug. 24

The Brewer football team is looking to rebound from a disappointing 2022 season this fall, and coach Jason Wheeler said he believes he has the team to compete for a playoff spot.

The Bears finished 2-8 overall last season with a 2-6 mark in district competition, and Wheeler said the silver lining for his team that is several players picked up significant varsity playing time.

"There were a lot of young kids who were able to gain experience last season, which I believe should work out in our favor this upcoming year," Wheeler said.

Brewer had district wins over Saginaw and FW South Hills in 2022 and will again compete in district 3-5A in 2023.

The Bears return some serious talent for the coming campaign, especially on the defensive side of the ball.

Cameron Clay finished last season with 62 tackles, three sacks, and four caused fumbles, along with five tackles for loss.

Elizjah Richardson with had 55 tackles and two tackles for loss, while Dakories Moment ended the season with 37 tackles, three caused fumbles and four interceptions.

Elijah Mande had 55 Tackles and two interceptions, and offensively, Mehki Elmore returns, who finished last season with 680 yards on 87 carries and nine touchdowns.

With a strong returning corps of defensive players, a solid running game, and numerous potential intangibles heading into the 2023, the Bears have what it takes to compete if they can keep mistakes to a minimum.

Wheeler said he is already like what he sees in terms of camaraderie.

"This years team seems to be a tighter knit group of kids," Wheeler said.

One of the biggest issues the Brewer football team has had to contend with this summer like all other high school programs is the intensive heat, but Wheeler said the coaches and trainers have taken the necessary precautions to keep the players safe.

"We are practicing early in the morning to stay away from the extreme temperatures," Wheeler said.

The Brewer coach said Aledo and Denton Ryan look to be the teams to beat in 3-5A this season, as "they (continued on page 3)

Take Precautions During Dry Conditions to Avoid Accidental Fires

We continue to experience extremely dry conditions that present increased fire danger. According to the National Weather Service, the DFW area received just .78 inches of rain in June and just .47 inches in July. This is well below the monthly averages, making this summer's fire danger even more serious than previous years.

Here are a few less common fire safety tips that need to be observed during this extremely dry summer:

- Avoid using power tools near dry vegetation, as sparks from power tools can easily start a fire in these dry conditions.
- Be careful when using lawn mowers and weed trimmers. Older or damaged lawn mowers or other power lawn care tools can generate sparks, especially if you hit something hard or metallic while mowing.

• Dispose of cigarettes properly. You're never supposed to throw your cigarette butts outside, but it's even more important to follow this rule during extreme dry conditions.

• Keep your grill clean and free of grease. Grease can cause portions of your grill to catch fire, which can then spread and cause grass fires.

• Secure tow chains. Heavy duty chains used for towing can cause sparks when they hit the street, possibly igniting a grass fire.

Key Things to Do After Having a Baby

Becoming a new parent is a joyous occasion, but no matter how many parenting books you've read, nothing can completely prepare you for your baby's arrival. With every pregnancy comes a long to-do list, but here are five tips to review after having a baby.

1. Start building an emergency fund.

Being financially prepared for anything can help protect your growing family. Managing your cash flow and setting aside a specified amount each month for an emergency fund will have your future self thanking you. Whether it ends up being an unplanned doctor's bill or emergency car repairs, you'll be prepared to meet the cost. Use a free online emergency fund calculator to determine what's a good amount of cushion for your situation.

2. Review your life insurance plan.

Although this big, exciting event just happened and the last thing you want to think about is something bad happening, it's always better to be prepared. A set amount of money each month towards a life insurance plan can help your family in a worst-case scenario, providing financial security and the ability for your family to maintain their current lifestyle. Life insurance could pay for daycare to allow the surviving spouse to work, fund your child's education and provide income replacement to help pay off a mortgage. Hint: Ask your insurance agent about bundling your home, auto and life insurance – it may be able to save you money.

3. Apply for your baby's Social Security number and birth certificate.

Social Security numbers (SSN) and birth certificates are not automatically generated upon birth. Nurses or the hospital will more than likely offer you the steps to apply for your baby's SSN and to fill out the birth certificate. However, it is important to complete these items promptly to avoid a delay or issues in adding your baby as a dependent on tax forms, health plans and more.

4. Add your baby to your health plan and benefits.

Most insurance plans allow 30 to 60 days to add your new baby to a health plan so that the birth and continued care are covered.

Be sure to add your new dependent or the hospital might bill the full amount for your stay. Contacting your health insurance provider is the easiest way to ensure your new dependent is added.

Hint: Before your baby is born, compare health plans to see which insurance plan will cover more birth and postnatal costs.

5. Start saving for college.

It's no secret that student loan debt is out of control. Putting away a set amount of money each month into a secure account can set up your child with a healthy debt-free financial future. If your child chooses to take an alternative path, they can use that money for a down payment on their first home. Be sure to discuss with an accountant the different long-term savings options available.

As new parents, you can provide all the TLC required for your new bundle of joy, but following these five steps will help set up you and your baby for success, no matter what life throws at you.

UTEP - The University of Texas at El Paso by Dr. Ken Bridges

As schools and universities across Texas begin their school years, teachers and administrators continue their work to educate students and improve lives. The University of Texas at El Paso has long been such an institution, serving as one of the pioneers for education in West Texas.

At the turn of the century, El Paso leaders were looking to escape the image of the lawless frontier town.

By 1910, the city's population had reached 39,000. Mining was a strong component of its economy. Copper mining in the area and especially copper, silver, gold, and lead ores mined across the border in Mexico were smelted within the city, creating a multi-million dollar economic boon for El Paso. Given the city's unique needs and its location more than 500 miles from the state's flagship university, the importance of a college devoted to mining was clear.

The state legislature passed the bill sponsored by Sen. Claude Hudspeth creating the State School of Mines and Metallurgy in 1913, which was signed into law by Gov. Oscar B. Colquitt. The college opened in September 1914 with just 27 students in a building just off the Fort Bliss compound. The students paid no tuition. They simply paid a one-time $30 registration fee ($721 in 2016 dollars) and would pay occasional lab fees ranging from $1.50 to $25 per course.

The college struggled in its early years. One enduring story was that the college established a football team in 1915, but only because of the donation of $800 (nearly $19,000 in 2016 dollars) from one professor, John Kidd, for whom a future stadium would be named. Enrollment rose to only 39 students by 1916. That fall, the campus was hit by a devastating fire that destroyed the main building. El Paso residents rallied to save the college. Fundraisers were held and land was donated for the college to move and rebuild.

By fall 1917, the college reopened with new buildings at its present location. After World War I, reorganizations by the state legislature led to a rapid series of changes on campus.

In 1919, the college was merged with the University of Texas to become the University of Texas Department of Mines and Metallurgy. The next year, the name was changed to the Texas College of Mines and Metallurgy and became widely known as "the College of Mines."

Football continued to be a popular part of campus culture. In 1935, the college hosted the first annual Sun Bowl championship game. However, since the college did not have its own field yet, the first three Sun Bowls were played at El Paso High School. The first Sun Bowl on the college's campus was not played until 1938.

The name would change once again to Texas Western College by 1949. In 1961, the college trained the first group of Peace Corps volunteers, part of President John F. Kennedy's program to bring new schools, hospitals, food, and clean water to poverty-stricken communities in the Third World.

In 1967, the University of Texas System was reorganized again, with Texas Western College now becoming the University of Texas at El Paso. It expanded rapidly and steadily offered new programs, with its first doctoral program being offered in 1974 (in geology) and a new nursing program starting in 1976.

Today, UTEP has more than 25,000 students and offers more than 160 different undergraduate and graduate degrees.

It is currently the only university in the nation with an active mine shaft on campus, still used for training miners.

The pursuit of knowledge can sometimes take us in unusual directions.
