Cross Country Preview

With cross country season right around the corner, Brewer High School is looking to pick up where it left off in 2022.

Last season, the girls team finished third overall at the district meet and advanced to the regional competition.

Coach Kathi Olson said that things are shaping up well for 2023 and said she is optimistic about her teams' chances.

"I am really excited about this season," Olson said. "We have the deepest team since I have been at Brewer. The kids have put in the work this summer to be ready to go when we start the season."

Brewer has a number of stronger returning runners on both sides.

"We have everyone coming back this season except for one senior who graduated, Sarai Aguilar," Olson said. "Ki Rendon advanced to the UIL 5A state meet last year, and our goal is for her to make a return to state and for the team to earn a spot at state as well."

Texas City Disaster of 1947 by Dr. Ken Bridges

It started out as a typical spring day for the busy port of Texas City in 1947. It was a growing city that was thriving with peacetime prosperity. As home to many oil refineries, chemical plants, and ports, Texas City had a lot to offer the world and had nearly tripled its population since the beginning of World War II. But a looming disaster lay in their midst. An accident on one ship would lead to a horrible chain reaction of explosions that would leave 547 people dead in the worst industrial accident in American History.

The ship in question was the French cargo ship Grandcamp. The vessel itself was unremarkable. It had only been commissioned five years before as a Liberty ship during World War II. Its original American designation was the Benjamin R. Curtis. It had served faithfully running cargo to various posts across the Pacific during World War II. It had a good safety record, and it was given to France after the war to help the nation rebuild its economy.

The Grandcamp was being loaded up with a variety of cargo including peanuts and tobacco. Among its cargo were far more volatile products, including 872 tons of ammonium nitrate, a common fertilizer, and 1,600 tons of sulfur. The ammonium nitrate had been shipped by train from Nebraska and had been sealed for protection. Transport and loading had been uneventful.

Sometime in the early morning of April 16, the ammonium nitrate began to react. Just before 8 a.m., longshoremen inspecting the cargo noticed some of it was starting to smoke and immediately tried to put it out, using what fire extinguishers and water was available. No effect. After a few minutes, the Grandcamp captain ordered the men to leave and ordered the hold sealed and began pumping in steam to try to smother the flames and save the ship. But the effort was useless, and the growing pressure in the hold caused the hatches to pop off by 8:30, causing the orange smoke of nitrogen oxide to erupt into the air.

Firefighters were called, but Texas City only had a volunteer department and the small firefighting team of the Republic Oil Refinery. Desperate attempts were made to put out the growing fire, but their best efforts were failing.

Then at 9:12, the ship exploded. A horrible fireball engulfed the port, spreading two thousand feet in every direction, mercilessly destroying everything in its path, including a ship docked 600 feet away. The shockwave wrecked ships throughout the bay. More than a thousand buildings were destroyed, with windows blown out ten miles away, as far as Galveston. More than 500 homes were destroyed. The blast left every car in a parking lot a quarter mile away a burning ruin. The nearby Monsanto Chemical Plant was also destroyed, leading to more explosions and leaving one-third of its 450 employees dead. Twenty-seven firefighters were killed. Fires raged on ships throughout the night, leading to more blasts the next day.

More than 5,000 people were reported injured. Fires across the city raged throughout the day, with fire departments from nearby cities joining the fight to save the city. Property damage was estimate at more than $100 million (or nearly $1.4 billion in 2023 dollars), one of the highest totals ever. Court cases raged for years, but Congress eventually stepped in and made nearly 1,400 payments to individuals through 1957.

The Grandcamp's two ton anchor was later found 1.6 miles away. It is still on display as part of a memorial to the victims. Dozens of bodies could never be identified and were later buried at a nearby cemetery established for the victims. No clear cause of the fire was ever identified, but a series of human errors has been most often identified by scholars and officials.

The city rebuilt and new safety procedures were enacted. The Texas City Fire Department was quickly transformed into a full-time department. The city never forgot the horrors of April 16, 1947.

Returning varsity team members on the girl's side include Cora Carr, Kailee Carr, Jade Reyes, Claire Simons and Aolani Wol-dai.

On the boys' side, Brewer graduated two seniors and have everyone else returning.

Olson said the major objective on the boy's side is to improve upon a seventh place showing at the district meet in 2022.

"The goal is the place in the top 3 to ad-vance to the Region I-5A Meet," Olson said.

Returning varsity team members on the boy's side include Donavyn Smith, Alex Vega, Yahir Miramontes, Ruben Mejia and Vontez Castillo.

Olson said as far as any new strategies or team dynamics for the 2023, things are pretty much status quo thanks to the system that has been established within the Brewer cross country program.

"There are no big changes," Olson said.

"We consistently have the same group and have a good group of freshmen coming in to join the program."

To have a successful season in 2023, Olson said she needs her runners to be ded-icated to the task at hand.

"It will take 100 percent commitment," Olson said. "Our district is tough. Aledo, Granbury, Azle, Northwest, Saginaw, and WF Rider all have high-quality teams and serious depth. I respect each of their coaches and programs. They all always pro-vide great competition at our district meet."

On the girls side, Brewer advanced to the regional meet where they finished 13th out of 24 teams in 2022.

Ki Rendon qualified for the state meet and finished 70th overall out of 152 runners.

Brewer opens the season with the Ken-nedale Wildcat Run at the MLK Jr. Sports Complex on Aug. 18.

First Monday Quilt Club - Project Linus Volunteers Needed

Come join the fun and fellowship with the Quilt Club volunteers while you make a difference in our community and bless others by making quilts for Project Linus.

The First Monday Quilt Club will meet at Bethany Christian Church located at 1500 Meadow Park Drive in White Settlement from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Monday, Aug. 7. Ladies may bring brunch or snack foods to share with others if desired.

Project Linus is a non-profit service or-ganization. The members of this group are Tarrant County Chapter Project Linus vol-unteers who create handmade quilts and blankets that provide love, warmth, and comfort for local children who have suf-fered trauma, tragedy, or illness. Volunteers also make coverlets for veterans, nursing home residents, and the homeless. Unfor-tunately, the need for these blankets in-creases each month. They desperately need volunteers with portable sewing machines to help assemble the quilts.

No experience is needed - there is a place for you. Anyone can help if you can follow instructions, sew, tie a knot, crochet a blanket, or tell a good joke. Volunteers have lots of fun and develop fantastic friendships. High school students can re-ceive community service credits for partic-ipating. Materials (fabric, batting, thread, and yarn) are provided.

Donations of fabric, yarn, thread, sewing machines, sergers, or money to purchase materials are greatly appreciated.

Come join the fun and enjoy fellowship with the Quilt Club volunteers while you make a difference in our community by being a blessing to others.

For more information about the mission of Project Linus, visit www.projectlinus.org. For more information on this group and meetings, call Virginia Biela at 817-244-1263.

of Commander Ernie MonDragon and wife Amber MonDragon's children.

Presenters spoke of how involved these awesome kids grew up in the Post at a very young age; mowing, cleaning, mopping, cooking and anything else that was asked. To this day they continue to be actively involved!

Dean Borries, Adjutant, shared a presentation of the Korean War Armistice Day:

Sunday, June 25, 1950:

Elements of the United States Army had been stationed in South Korea since the ending of WWII, ensuring a peaceful restoration of control to the South Korean government from the occupying Japanese forces.

There were veterans of some of the latter battles of WWII in these units along with new recruits, but the primary characteristics was that there were not prepared for armed conflict. Most of them did not have ammunition, some didn't even have weapons with them on this seemingly peaceful Sunday morning. At dawn, elements of the Korean Peoples Army, the army of North Korea, crossed the 38th parallel into South Korea.

By Sept. 14, 1950, the United Nations (UN) forces supporting the South Koreans had been pushed to southeastern-most corner of the Korean peninsula, the vicinity of the port town of Pusan. There they had established a defensive perimeter and waited for reinforcements. The reinforcements arrived in the form of 5th Marine Regiment who conducted an amphibious landing at Inchon, just outside of Seoul, mid-way up the peninsula on the west coast of Korea.

Troops began landing on Sept. 15, 1950 and soon began pushing the North Koreans back across the 38th parallel. By November 25, 1950 the UN forces had reached the Chosin reservoir near the Yalu River which forms the boundary with China.

The winter of 1950 was one of the coldest on record for this part of the world and there were numerous casualties due to the weather, as well as countless weapons and equipment malfunctions.

Then the North Koreans were reinforced by forces of the Peoples Republic of China, and their overwhelming members forced a withdrawal back to the coast of Hungnam.

By the time of the armistice on July 27, 1953 neither side could claim any real headway and the demilitarized zone (DMZ) forming the boundary between North and South Korea established roughly where it had begun just three years prior, along the 38th parallel.

With WWII having ended just five years prior to the beginning of the Korean War, a large portion of the weapons and tactics used were remnants of WWII. However, some new technologies were implemented and saw widespread use during the Korean War. These included jet aircraft and helicopters.

Of the nearly 1 million UN troops involved in the Korean War, over 178,000 were reported dead, almost 33,000 were missing and well over 1/2 million were wounded.

North Korea and its allies, China and the Soviet Union reported up to 750,000 dead, over 145,000 missing and roughly 700,000 wounded.

There were 145 recipients for the Medal of Honor for the Korean War, with the majority of those being awarded posthumously. Today, only five recipients are still alive.

On July 27, 1953 General Mark Clark, representing the UN, signed the ceasefire agreement in Panmunjom, halting the fighting, but not ending the war. The Korean War continues today. The Korean War Veterans Memorial was dedicated on July 27, 1995, the 42nd anniversary of the signing of the armistice. As of this writing we recognize 70 years.

The memorial is designed to represent this force on patrol through a rice paddy in Korea.
