Bears Win Second Tournament; Lady Bears Finish 2-1 in Lions Club Tourney

The Brewer basketball team won their second straight tournament this past weekend, and coach Jason Porostovsky said he was team was firing on all cylinders.

The Bears improved to 11-1 with their effort in Mesquite.

“We won the tournament championship over host team Mesquite Horn, going 4-0 on the weekend,” Porostovsky said. “We beat Mesquite Poteet and Parish Episcopal in pool play then beat North Mesquite and Mesquite Horn in bracket play.”

For the second straight week, Julian Perez was named tournament MVP and Carron Gibson was named to the all tournament squad.

Brewer had some other strong performances in the tournament as well.

“Javier Espino, Warren King and Davion Martin provided excellent minutes as we were down a few kids for various reasons,” Porostovsky said.

Brewer will play Krum tomorrow night, and Porostovsky said his team will have to come ready to play.

“We expect a tough game versus Krum,” Porostovsky said. “They are a well-coached team that executes, and they won’t beat themselves.

On the girls side, the Lady Bears competed in the Lion's Club Tournament this past weekend and also had good results.

Coach Teranie Lewis said her team competed well in the competition.

with a 2-1 record," Lewis said. "We lost to Keller in the championship game. I think the team bounced back well from our loss to Argyle. But we still have some things to work on."

Standout performances in the Lion's Club Tournament included Chania Price, Kailee Carr and Julie Kasonga, whom Lewis said. "had some good moments."

Lewis said she believes her team is in good shape as district approaches.

"I feel the non-district schedule has really prepared us for district. That was the ultimate goal of the games scheduled - making sure our team was prepared for the most important part of the season."

Bulk Trash Pick-Up Begins Dec. 12

White Settlement residents may begin to set items out for bulk trash pick up on the Friday before the second full week of the month.

Residents should make sure the trash pile follows the guidelines so that it will be picked up:

- Make sure your items are placed clear of low-hanging limbs and wires, mailboxes, parked cars, or other obstructions.

- The total size of pile/area allowed is 10 cubic yards (8 feet long by 6 feet wide by 6 feet tall) or roughly the size of a Volkswagen Beetle.

- No items generated from other locations, hazardous materials, tires, electronics, appliances with coolant or gas.

The pile must be placed at an address with an active water account to be picked up and bulk piles are picked up by a truck utilizing a hydraulic claw.

Six Pains of Holiday Shipping - Solved!

Unlike Santa, most of us don't have elves to take care of properly packing up holiday packages. With shipping deadlines coming up quickly, it's time to start thinking about getting those presents in the mail. If you don't know where to begin with sending gifts across town or around the world, read on for the most common holiday headaches and solutions to help you "get your shipping together" early!

1. Packages arriving after the First Noel. No one wants to be the person whose gifts arrive after the holidays. That's probably why over a third of respondents to a recent survey conducted by Shurtape Technologies said that the biggest aggravation when it comes to holiday shipping is packages arriving at their destination in a timely manner. Avoid this issue by taking note of shipping deadlines. This year's USPS shipping deadline for standard ground shipping for arrival by Christmas Day is Dec. 17.

2. Festive fragile items being damaged. Leg lamps aren't the only "fra-gee-lay" items being delivered during the holidays! Bubble wrap cushioning is the key to items arriving in one piece. The air lock technology maintains consistent cushioning and long-lasting protection to keep objects intact. And of course, you'll want to mark the box as fragile.

3. Costs so high, you think you're on the naughty list. Between purchasing materials and paying postage fees, shipping costs can feel sky-high. Prepare to mail presents by factoring these expenses into your holiday budget. To start, create a list of how many gifts you'll need to send, the anticipated size of each and what materials you already have on hand. However, when using what you already have, you'll want to ensure that these items are the proper size for the gift being shipped so you don't overpay for box size or weight.

4. Too much time away from the tree. Mailing gifts to their destination isn't just pricey – it's downright time consuming. Spend less time transporting and more time merrymaking by planning ahead to avoid last-minute rushes to the post office – the closer to the holidays you mail, the longer those lines will be.

5. Materials you can't find under the mistletoe. 'Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the store, not a shipping supply was found, not even one box more. Last-minute shoppers should get ahead of the game and purchase necessary tools as soon as possible to ensure they can secure their preferred products. Stock up on your shipping supplies early.

6. Poor packing tape that would never make it out of the North Pole. Don't let packing tape that rips and tears make you a Scrooge this holiday season! Duck brand EZ Start Packing Tape is made with frustration-free technology, so it always unrolls smoothly, easily and quietly. Its strong adhesion provides a long-lasting hold, and its unique design eliminates the annoyance of losing the tape end, so you can pack up your gifts and leave the stress behind.

Don't let shipping be a source of stress this holiday season. Use these tips to pack and mail your gifts like a North Pole pro.

U.S. Senator, Tom Connally by Dr. Ken Bridges

The twentieth century transformed the United States from a moderate power only loosely involved in world affairs into a superpower where most questions of foreign relations revolved around American goals and intentions. Much of this transition began taking place during the period just before and just after World War II. Numerous treaties were ratified, planning was required, and many discussions took place in the U.

S. Senate. An important part of this work in creating a global role for the United States came from a one-time, small-town attorney from McLennan County, Texas.

Thomas Terry Connally was born on a farm near the small community of Hewitt in McLennan County in August 1877, just after the end of Reconstruction. He graduated from Baylor University in 1896 at age 19 and earned a law degree from the University of Texas in 1898. Immediately after graduation, he enlisted in the army to fight in the Spanish-American War. He believed in the role that America must play in world affairs, but in the meantime, moved to Marlin in Falls County to set up a law practice.

After respected terms in the state legislature and as Falls County Prosecuting Attorney, he was elected to Congress in 1916. America entered World War I in 1917, and Connally, at age 40, briefly resigned from Congress to join the army once again. After his return, he was put on the House Foreign Affairs Committee where he actively supported President Woodrow Wilson's leadership on the world stage and plans for American entry into the League of Nations, an organization dedicated to world peace founded by Wilson. Because of bitterly divisions over the League, American entry failed.

Connally was elected to the U. S. Senate in 1928. He eventually came to serve on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, becoming its chair in 1941. He supported President Franklin D. Roosevelt's efforts to help arm the Allies as they fought against the Axis Powers. America could not afford to shy away from the demands of a dangerous world. Connally's role as Foreign Relations Chair proved to be invaluable as the nation worked with nations across the globe during World War II.

As World War II neared an end, Connally supported new American leadership in world affairs following the war. Roosevelt himself had supported the American entry into the League of Nations years before and now supported a new organization similarly dedicated to peace and justice among the nations of the world. Roosevelt had referred to the Allies as "the United Nations" since the United Nations Declaration in 1942 and pushed for the creation of a formal organization that united the world's countries.

Connally was a natural choice to serve as a delegate, one of 850 from 51 nations. He met with delegates gathering in San Francisco, California, from other nations to form the United Nations in April 1945. He was named vice-chairman of the Conference on International Organization that formally created the UN. He served as a representative to the first UN conference in London later that year and the second UN conference in 1946 in New York, which later became its permanent headquarters. He also helped the UN begin expanding beyond the initial World War II allies in 1946 by securing the admission of Afghanistan, Iceland, and Sweden to the assembly.

Connally won re-election in 1946. Nationally, the Democrats lost their majority in the Senate in light of President Harry S. Truman's unpopularity. Connally lost his chairmanship of the Foreign Relations Committee but stayed on the committee. He took back the chairmanship when Democrats regained the Senate in 1948. With the Cold War with the Soviet Union deteriorating, a new treaty appeared before the committee that would also have lasting repercussions.

The North Atlantic Treaty allied the United States and eleven other nations into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Connally pushed its approval through committee, and it was ratified in the Senate in July 1949 by a vote of 82 to 13. NATO would be the first permanent alliance that the United States had entered into since it allied with France during the American Revolution. NATO became the cornerstone of America's defense against any communist expansion in Europe during the decades-long Cold War.

America's commitments abroad faced another test with the outbreak of the Korean War in 1950. Connally's committee helped provide Truman with the congressional support he needed in organizing for the latest war. Connally also openly defended Truman's controversial firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur in 1951 for publicly criticizing him.

Connally decided not to seek re-election in 1952. After his retirement, he remained in Washington; and though 75 years old, he opened a law firm. He died in October 1963. He died in a world that now looked to America for leadership to defend the free world.
