Bears and Lady Bears Basketball Still Bringing the Heat

The Brewer boys basketball team avenged its only loss in district this past Friday with a 41-38 victory over Saginaw.

Coach Jason Porostovsky said his team competed well against the Rough Riders, but added that he still sees room for improvement.

"I thought we came out with energy, but a couple of defensive mistakes allowed Saginaw to get going in the first half," Porostovsky said. "We trailed 30-19 going into halftime. In the third quarter, we responded with great defense, holding Saginaw to 2 points, and in the fourth holding them to 6 and a total of 8 for the second half."

Julian Perez led all scorers with 21 points in the game against Saginaw, and Tyren Mitchell added 12 points for the Bears.

"Warren King hit 2 big free throws at the end and played great defense throughout the game as well as JJ Johnson producing a great defensive effort," Porostovsky said.

Brewer moved into sole possession of first place in the district 5-5A standings with the win, and Porostovsky said it was a good feeling to move to the top of the district standings, but added that his team is not satisfied by any means.

"Well, honestly, I think it's a relief for them in terms that we expected to be in first place," Porostovsky said. "But we needed to understand we have to play a certain way for success. They want more from this year than just the district."

Brewer has its bye on Friday, and Porostovsky said he will use it to scout out potential competition.

"We will go watch a possible playoff opponent and do a lot of shooting during the bye," Porostovsky said.

On the girls side, Brewer defeated Saginaw by a score of 75-21 on Friday night to move to 10-0 in district competition.

Coach Teranie Lewis said she was pleased with her team's performance.

"The girls played well," Lewis said. "Every player got an opportunity to play. We worked on some things we have been going over in practice, and I think it transferred over well."

Lewis said that Aolani Woldai was her standout performer in the game, and said she is really happy with the level at which the team is playing as the district season begins to wind down.

"I am proud of how the team is competing," Lewis said. "We've really been focusing on certain things in practice and they have really focused in and transferred it over to games."

The Lady Bears are now 26-4 on the season, and with the bye this Friday, Lewis she wants her team to remain focused on two objectives.

"Keep growing and getting better," Lewis said.

Brewer High School Interns Meet Local Political Activist Opal Lee

Brewer High School Family and Community Service interns, Manuel Garcia, Emy Hernandez and Brooke Harding, were recently introduced to Political Activist Opal Lee by a chance encounter.

The students are enrolled in the Practicum in Human Service class, taught by Nicole Alexander. They were given the opportunity to tour a local outreach facility, with The Restoration Center volunteer Alisha Perez (pictured bottom, left).

Often described as the "grandmother of Juneteenth," Ms. Lee is a retired teacher, counselor, and activist in the movement to make Juneteenth a federally-recognized holiday. The holiday commemorates June 19, 1865, when Union soldiers arrived in Galveston, Texas, to enforce the Emancipation Proclamation. The Proclamation was signed by President Lincoln on Jan. 1, 1863.

Brewer Honeycombs Host Recycle Event

Brewer High School Honeycomb Drill Team director Stacy Elkins with members Amber Kopacki, Grayce Alvarez and Leksi Quill at the recycling event at Brewer High School on Jan. 27.

Community members brought computers and several other recyclables to the drive-by drop-off area, that will help to raise funds for new uniforms and poms for this amazing and talented group of students.

Robotics Outreach Event Hosted by Overload 9161

Programmer Asher Childress, Notebook Devon Truitt and Co-Captain/Notebook Joshua Wheeler with their creation of “Mr. E Machine” that has been rebuilt eight times!

Members from Overload 9161, the first Robotics Team from Aledo High School, gathered at the White Settlement Library to host an event on Jan. 27 where kids were encouraged to build balloon powered cars and have fun with a robot. The goal of this event was to promote STEM in surrounding communities and show kids how engaging robotics can be.

The team utilized recycled water bottles, balloons and sticks in order to guide kids through the engineering building process. Participants had loads of fun blowing up balloons and watching the cars zoom across the tables and floors and were interested in using controllers and driving the robot around that would spin in donuts, pick up pixels and fly paper airplane drones across the room.

The team spoke with parents through the occasion as their interest for their children is a family oriented activity that brought smiles to those who attended.

The Overload 9161 team will host a Semi-Area competition at Aledo High School where 30 or more teams will participate.

First Monday Quilt Club: Come Join the Fun with Project Linus

Start the New Year in a wonderful way by joining the fun and having fellowship with the Quilt Club volunteers while you make a difference in our community and bless others by making quilts for Project Linus.

The First Monday Quilt Club meets on the first Monday of each month at Bethany Christian Church, located at 1500 Meadow Park Drive in White Settlement from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Instead of a pot-luck lunch, ladies are asked to bring brunch or snack items. Their next meeting is on Monday, Feb. 5.

Project Linus is a non-profit service organization, and the members of this group are Tarrant County Chapter Project Linus volunteers who create handmade quilts and blankets that provide love, warmth, and comfort for local children who have suffered trauma, tragedy, or illness.

Volunteers also make coverlets for veterans, nursing home residents, and the homeless. Unfortunately, the need for these blankets increases each month. They desperately need volunteers with portable sewing machines to help assemble the quilts.

No experience is needed - there is a place for you. Anyone can help if you can follow instructions, sew, tie a knot, crochet a blanket, or tell a good joke. Volunteers have lots of fun and develop fantastic friendships.

High school students can receive community service credits for participating. Materials (fabric, batting, thread, and yarn) are provided. Donations of fabric, yarn, thread, sewing machines, sergers, or money to purchase materials are greatly appreciated.

For more information about the mission of Project Linus, visit www.projectlinus.org.

For more information about the First Monday Quilt Club, call Virginia Biela at 817-244-1263.

Texas Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson

Not everyone is destined to win all the races they race or the fights that they fight. And on some special select occasions, some of those daring souls are recognized for what they do achieve and the importance of the work to which they dedicate their lives. One of those figures is one-time Amarillo mayor Ernest O. Thompson. Thompson was denied his attempt to become governor decades ago, but his impact as a Railroad Commissioner still has a strong impact on modern Texas.

Thompson was born in Alvord, a small community in Wise County, in 1892. In 1902, the family moved to Amarillo, where his father ran a drug store. As a youth, he was considered bright and hard-working. And he always had an eye for opportunity, cleverly coming up with ways to find work or talk his way into a job.

He graduated from the University of Texas with a law degree in 1917. He joined the army in the midst of World War I, serving in the infantry. In 1918, Thompson was cited for his innovative techniques with mass, coordinated machine gun fire and promoted to lieutenant colonel. He returned to Amarillo in 1919 to practice law. Thompson was one of the organizers of the American Legion, a group of veterans dedicated to helping veterans.

In 1928, he ran for mayor, pledging to cut utility rates and won easily. In 1932, Gov. Ross Sterling appointed Thompson to the Texas Railroad Commission.

The role of the Railroad Commission steadily expanded from railroad hauling rates to regulating oil pipelines and oil and gas production by World War I. It expanded to other forms of energy and transportation in the 1920s. The wild East Texas oil field was producing a fortune, but waste and reckless drilling threatened its long-term stability. Drilling too much too quickly for too long had ruined the production yield in oil fields in other parts of the country, even though the oil was still available. Overproduction had caused East Texas oil prices to drop 90%.

Thompson introduced a series of measures that limited production and oversaw safety measures, all designed in a way that protected the interests of smaller producers and still protected the interests of corporations. In a short time, prices stabilized, safety began to improve, and production remained sustainable. In appreciation for his efforts, Gov. James V. Allred of Wichita Falls appointed Thompson colonel in the Texas National Guard in 1936. Though Thompson was not a producer himself, he was recognized globally as an expert on oil production. In 1937, President Franklin D. Roosevelt sent him as the American delegate to the World Petroleum Conference in France.

In 1938, he decided to run for governor. Thompson started the primary season as the prohibitive favorite to succeed Gov. Allred. Initially, his biggest opponent for the Democratic nomination was William McCraw, the state attorney general and a former Dallas prosecutor, and corporate attorney Tom Hunter of Wichita Falls. A slew of other candidates joined in, with most of the debate centered on the lingering effects of the Great Depression and calls for aid to schools and the poor and a state teacher's pension.

That spring, W. Lee "Pappy" O'Daniel, a popular Fort Worth-based radio broadcaster whose noon broadcasts of popular country music and his homespun humor won him thousands of fans, jumped into the race. A master showman, Pappy O'Daniel drew huge crowds to his campaign rallies with his wit and free concerts performed by his Light Crust Doughboys band. Few polls were conducted, but it was clear who had the advantage. Thompson held onto hopes that he could enter the usual runoff. But O'Daniel won the July primary with 51% of the vote, with Thompson finishing a distant second with only 21%. O'Daniel then went on to win the general election with an astounding 97% of the vote.

Thompson was still on the Railroad Commission but decided for a re-match against O'Daniel in 1940. The result was about the same, with O'Daniel winning 54% of the vote to 21.6% for the runner-up Thompson.

When World War II erupted, Thompson, now nearing 50, rejoined the army. As the Allies needed a steady supply of fuel as much as they needed troops in the field, Thompson was sent back home to his duties on the Railroad Commission to ensure a steady flow of oil and natural gas to the military. Texas was a key part of this effort.

Thompson was elected to three more terms on the Railroad Commission after the war. Gov. Allan Shivers appointed Thompson as general of the National Guard in 1952.

As the years advanced and his health started to decline, Thompson decided to retire. In January 1965, he formally stepped down from the commission. He built a steady list of honors for his work. Amarillo had named a park in his honor, and Alvord placed a historical marker in the community. And to further honor of his years of service, the State of Texas renamed the old Austin Daily Tribune Building after Thompson later in 1965. He died just 18 months later at age 74. His 33 years on the Railroad Commission is still the longest in state history. The 11-story building named for him is today home to the Texas Department of Licensing and Regulation.
