Community Clean Up June 24-25

Just a reminder that if you have extra bulk the next Community Cleanup Weekend is Saturday and Sunday on June 24 and 25 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

This is a great opportunity to get rid of excess limbs, brush and bulk by bringing them to the Corner of Melrose and Meadow Park.

This is for White Settlement residents only. Remember to bring proof of residency (driver's license, most recent water bill)!

Lady Bear Athlete Spotlight: Chania Price

The Brewer girls basketball team won a 5-5A district championship in 2023 and advanced to the regional quarterfinals, with playoff victories over FW Northside and Midlothian Heritage.

A major contributor to the Lady Bears success this past season was the play of guard and small forward Chania Price, whom coach Teranie Lewis described as providing a versatile presence to the game.

"Chania brings a fun personality and energy on and off the court," Lewis said. "She is a threat at any position and can guard anybody on the court. She is very athletic and long and has a knowledge for the game."

Lewis said she was impressed with Price's effort in 2023 both on the court and in the classroom.

"Chania played well this past season," Lewis said. "She brought a lot to our team on the offensive and defensive ends of the court. She could be a threat at any position on the court. She also does great in the classroom. Chania was first-team all district and academic all-district."

Price, 17, said she tries to bring energy and a positive attitude to the team and said, overall, she was pleased with the 2022-23 campaign.

"I was happy the way our season unfolded because every game I felt like we got better as a team and we worked harder everyday in practice," Price said.

Price said she also felt she accomplished what she set out to do.

"Some of the goals I had going into the season were to be a leader on the court and in practice and be a threat on offense and defense," Price said. "Whether that was to go score or get a defensive stop. To accomplish these goals I worked hard in the games and in practice to help my team."

The incoming senior who also runs track and enjoys music, writing, and playing video games with her brother, said she has a few expectations for 2024.

"My objectives for next season are to get more shots up and get stronger in the weight room," Price said.

The Brewer girls basketball coach said for next year, she would like to see Price continue to build on what she provided this past season.

“My goal for her next season is to be one of our biggest leaders in practice and games,” Lewis said. “She will naturally be one of our top scorers and defenders with her athleticism and talent.”

American Legion Post 297 Hosts Ceremony

Post Everlasting is the final destination within the American Legion where departed comrades are transferred when called for duty by the Supreme Commander.

A list of those who passed this prior year were recognized at the Post recently. Seven names were read, including Paul Mansir whom the Post is named after.

The list was lit by fire in a brazier as several individuals witnessed this solemn ceremony.

The deceased are remembered and we thank them for their contribution of service to our Country, community and the Post.

Adjutant Shelly Hook places an American Legion cap on the rifles.

Bill Kuehner (back) follows John Ragstad, John Ashton and Dan Hook as they escort the brazier to Post Everlasting.

Great Start Program to Begin Aug. 7

The Fort Worth Composite Squadron, Civil Air Patrol will have another Great Start program for new members starting Aug. 7.

The Cadet Great Start program is a comprehensive introduction to Civil Air patrol for new cadets. It transforms a cohort of ordinary youth into cadet airmen in four weeks, while giving cadet NCOs and officers opportunities to apply their leadership skills. Parents are welcome to participate in the Great Start program alongside their cadets to get a greater understanding of the program.

In Civil Air Patrol, cadets focus on Emergency Services, Aerospace Education, Safety, Character Development, Leadership, and Fitness. As they learn about these areas, they advance through a series of achievement levels, earning honors and increased responsibilities along the way. Civil Air Patrol has been an integral start for many astronauts, pilots, engineers, and scientists. Home-schooled cadets can even earn high school credits for their work in the program.

If you are interested in Civil Air Patrol, visit the website at <http://fortworthcap.org/> or find us on Google by searching Fort Worth Civil Air Patrol.

About Fort Worth Civil Air Patrol

Founded in 1941 and established as the official civilian auxiliary of the U.S. Air Force seven years later, Civil Air Patrol is chartered by Congress as a nonprofit organization for the purposes of youth development, aerospace education, and to promote general aviation. In an auxiliary role as a Total Force partner of the Air Force, CAP operates the world's largest fleet of single-engine aircraft for search and rescue, disaster relief, training, and education. Civil Air Patrol is dedicated to serving America's communities, saving lives, and shaping futures.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING TO REVIEW WHITE SETTLEMENT ISD'S Annual Federal Program Funding Sources: Elementary and Secondary Schools Act Individual with Disabilities Education Act Perkins V: Strengthening Career and Technical Education for the 21st Century

White Settlement ISD will hold a public meeting at 5:30 p.m., June 19, 2023 at the Administration Building located at 8224 White Settlement Rd., White Settlement, Texas 76108.

The purpose of the meeting is to review and allow public comment regarding the plan for spending these federal funds.

Teacher, Prohibition Advocate and Politician - Helen J. Stoddard

by Dr. Ken Bridges

Change often came slowly to the South, but it often arrived with a whirlwind of effort pushing it along.

Helen Stoddard, a force of nature unto herself, became a leader in the state with her efforts to defeat alcohol and promote women's equality.

Stoddard became an early professor and pursued a host of causes across Texas, including child welfare, women's education, food safety, prohibition of alcohol, and women's suffrage. Her stubborn mindset, coupled with a sharp intellect and fiery sermons galvanized legislators and public opinion at the turn of the century. Along the way, Helen Stoddard became one of the co-founders of what is now Texas Woman's University and one of the first women to run for Congress.

Helen M. Gerrels was born in Sheboygan, Wisconsin, off Lake Michigan, in 1850. Church was an important part of her early life. She was a bright and exceptional child and attended Ripon College, a church-based college preparatory institution as a young woman.

She enrolled at Genesee Wesleyan Seminary in New York and excelled at her studies. She graduated from the seminary as head of her class in 1873. It was there that she met her future husband, S. B. Stoddard, and the two married shortly after graduation and moved to Nebraska. They soon had two sons, but their happiness soon dissipated. One son died in infancy, and her husband's health collapsed. The family moved to Florida, believing the warm climate would save his failing health. However, his condition deteriorated, and he died in 1878.

Her parents had moved to Hamilton County, Texas, in 1877, and with a young son to raise, Stoddard moved to Texas to join them. She began teaching school and soon set up a Sunday School in Indian Gap. In 1885, Stoddard began teaching at the now-defunct Fort Worth University, a college associated with the Methodist Episcopal Church.

She soon became interested in the prohibition movement, convinced of the serious harm that alcohol did to families and marriages through health issues, financial ruin, and violence in the home.

She was elected president of the Texas Women's Christian Temperance Union in 1891 and took on the cause of combating alcohol full-time. She went across the state recruiting members and speaking to different organizations. She successfully lobbied legislators to pass a slew of laws aimed at protecting children and public health in the 1890s, including laws mandating that public school students be taught the dangers of alcohol, banning over-the-counter sales of cocaine, restricting mail delivery of alcohol to dry counties, banning child labor in factories, raising the age of consent for girls from 12 to 15, and banning the sale of cigarettes to children under 16.

Stoddard also lobbied for the opening of a state women's college.

In 1901, the legislature agreed to create the Girls' Industrial College though there had been great opposition to college education for women. Stoddard was named to the board of regents, the first woman in Texas to serve on the governing body of any Texas state college. The board selected Denton as the site of the new college, which opened in 1903. Stoddard continued to serve as the college changed its name to the College of Industrial Arts (it became Texas Women's University in 1957). At the college's dedication, Stoddard noted, "Economic independence will allow them to build their lives upon intelligent choice."

She also became an advocate for giving women the right to vote, believing it would help the cause of women's education and the fight against alcohol. The strain of her schedule overwhelmed her, causing a series of health problems. She stepped down from her roles with the WCTU and the college board in 1907. She moved to California to be near her son and his wife.

Free Admission for Juneteenth Monday, June 19

The Fort Worth Botanic Garden (FWBG) invites guests to visit the Garden with free admission Monday, June 19 in honor of the Juneteenth federal holiday.

Quarterly free admission days and a recently established shuttle system throughout the Garden are two significant ways that invite the entire community to enjoy the local treasure that is the Fort Worth Botanic Garden.

"The significance of Juneteenth spans our nation, but we are proud to celebrate this day in Fort Worth, home of the future National Juneteenth Museum and activist, Opal Lee," said FWBG CEO and President Patrick Newman.

The Garden offers a 120-acre campus filled with 23 specialty gardens, including the popular Japanese Garden with koi-filled pools and dramatic waterfalls, and the iconic Rose Garden, with a terraced ramp featuring paths that wind past colorful flower beds.

About the Fort Worth Botanic Garden

The Fort Worth Botanic Garden is the oldest public botanic garden in Texas with beautiful theme gardens, including the Rose Garden and Japanese Garden, the Adelaide Polk Fuller Garden featuring a comprehensive collection of trees, shrubs, and perennials, and the Victor and Cleyone Tinsley Garden, highlighting plants native to north central Texas. In addition to stunning horticultural displays, the Garden also offers community education for adults, children and families, and international research conducted through the Botanical Research Institute of Texas (BRIT®). The BRIT Philecology Herbarium contains nearly 1.5 million plant specimens from around the world making it one of the largest herbaria in the United States, and the BRIT Research Library houses nearly 125,000 volumes of botanical books and journals. The BRIT Press publishes botanical-related books and the esteemed, peer-reviewed journal JBRIT. The combined campus comprises 120 acres in Fort Worth's Cultural District two miles west of downtown Fort Worth at 3220 Botanic Garden Blvd., Fort Worth, Texas 76107. www.fwb.org
