BHS Cross Country Team Prepared for District Meet Tomorrow

The Brewer cross country team had a strong showing at their home meet last week, and coach Kathi Olson it was a good warm up for district.

"The teams did great yesterday," Olson said on Saturday. "Our course is a tough one, and the kids did great to prepare for next week's District meet at Central Park."

Ki Rendon won the Varsity girls' race, Kailee Carr was 12th, Claire Simons placed 15th, and Jade Reyes was 17th overall.

The varsity boys' top runner was Vontez Castillo.

Olson said she expects a challenging district meet this coming weekend.

"We have a very competitive District, and all the teams have great runners," Olson said. "It's going to be a battle for those three spots to advance to the Region 1 meet."

Sports Desk (continued from page 1)

The Brewer football team lost a tough one to The Colony on Friday night to move thier district record to 2-2.

The Bears lost 43-36 in a game they led by 15 at the half, and coach Jason Wheeler said turnovers really hurt them.

“The first half we came out and performed really well offensively,” Wheeler said. “We came out in the second half and had three turnovers. It's hard to keep that lead when that happens.”

Brewer got on the board first when Jordan Clark connected with Cameron Carr on a 53-yard touchdown pass to make it 7-0 bears.

With 3:35 to go in the first quarter, Clark broke a 44-yard run to give Brewer a 14-0 lead before The Colony was able to get on the board.

Brewer answered by driving 57 yards and scoring just before the end of the first quarter on a 2-yard run from Jaden Garrett.

But the Cougars came right back with a touchdown of their own to make it 21-14 Brewer at the end of one.

In the second quarter, Garrett extended Brewer's lead, capping off a 70-yard drive with a 4-yard touchdown run to make it 28-14 in favor of the Bears.

The Colony scored again to bring the game to within 7, but with 1:17 remaining in the half, Garrett scored again on a 7-yard run, and 2-point conversion from Clark made it 36-21 Brewer.

The Colony scored 22-unanswered points in the second half to get the victory.

Brewer will play South Hills tomorrow night, and Wheeler said his team needs to focus on execution.

“They're well-coached and they are going to be prepared,” Wheeler said. “I expect us to get a win, but then I expect us to win every week. We're going to go out and focus on us getting better.”

On the court, the Brewer volleyball team came up short against Wichita Falls Rider on Friday night, losing by a score of 3-1.

Coach Jill Barkey said it was a tough loss.

“We lost our footing against Rider,” Barkey said. “We got outplayed. Saira Terrazas stepped up in set 4 to set for us so we could get some swings on the board.”

Brewer will play Granbury tomorrow night and Barkey expects another difficult game.

“We know Granbury will be tough,” Barkey said. “We've been preparing since Wednesday. We're going to give them everything we've got.”

Fort Worth Native, Actor Larry Hagman by Dr. Ken Bridges

Texas has produced many colorful characters and gifted actors and artists in its long history. Among those is actor Larry Hagman. He played one of the most notorious villains on TV but was the opposite off-screen, known instead for his wit and his devotion to friends.

Hagman was born in September 1931 in Fort Worth. His father, Benjamin Jackson Hagman, was an attorney and an accountant in nearby Weatherford, who later worked as a prosecuting attorney and was a decorated artillery officer during World War II.

His home life was difficult. In 1936, his mother, Mary Martin, was anxious to resume her career as a singer and stage actress and filed for divorce. For the next several years, Larry Hagman alternated between his mother and his grandmother while living in California. His mother sent him to a series of boarding schools before he went to live with her again in New York City after World War II. In 1946, he returned to Weatherford to live with his father and his new wife and half-brother.

He attended Weatherford High School and took several jobs. One summer, he worked for oilman Jess Hall, Jr., the owner of Antelope Tool Company. Hagman said he would later base his character of J.R. Ewing on memories of Hall. He graduated high school in 1949. His father encouraged him to become a lawyer, but Hagman instead pursued acting. He attended Bard College in New York City majoring in drama and dance but quit after one year.

Hagman acted in small stage productions before he was drafted in 1952. He married Maj Axelsson in 1954, with whom he had two children. After four years in the air force, he returned to New York City and acted in a series of plays. His first TV appearance was a guest shot on the 1957 series Decoy. In 1958, he made three guest appearances on Sea Hunt with Lloyd Bridges.

He kept making small appearances on stage and screen, and his career steadily grew. From 1961 to 1963, he had a recurring role on the CBS soap opera The Edge of Night. His first film role was in 1964 in Ensign Pulver. Later that year, he appeared in the thriller Failsafe.

In 1965, he made a huge breakthrough with his career when he landed the lead in I Dream of Jeannie. Hagman played Maj. Tony Nelson, an astronaut who found a genie in a bottle on a deserted island. His character was often bewildered and overwhelmed by the antics of the genie played by Barbara Eden, who would become a lifelong friend. The popular series ran until 1970. After the end of the series, he appeared in two short-lived sitcoms, The Good Life (1971-1972) and Here We Go Again (1973).

He was looking for a new role in early 1978 when his wife suggested he read the script of a proposed new drama about a Texas oil family. Hagman immediately felt drawn to the scheming character of J.R. Ewing and got the role. When Dallas premiered in April 1978, it was an instant hit. "J.R." became a cultural icon, and millions tuned in every week to see his latest scheme and whether his co-star, Patrick Duffy, who played the younger brother Bobby Ewing, could thwart his plans. Many scenes were shot in and around the Dallas area, to the delight of Metroplex residents. In spite of his TV character, Hagman developed close relationships with all his fellow cast members.

The tensions in the Ewing family and the web of his backstabbing plans led to the famous "Who Shot J.R.?" cliffhanger in 1980, leaving millions wondering if he would survive the shooting and who was responsible. The question was the subject of interviews, articles, and magazine covers across the globe. In November 1980, in one of the most-watched episodes in television history, 83 million Americans tuned in to learn that he had survived and was shot by his sister-in-law and mistress.

The series lasted for 14 seasons. He was nominated for two Emmy Awards and four Golden Globe Awards. Hagman was the only actor to appear in all 357 episodes before the cancellation of Dallas in May 1991. He and other co-stars would appear in six TV movies in the years afterward. Hagman once said about his character, "It's fun to play the villain."

He would make brief film appearances, and directed a number of episodes of In the Heat of the Night, which starred his close friend Carroll O'Connor. But he faced a major health crisis in 1995. Hagman had been a heavy drinker for many years and had to undergo a liver transplant. The operation was a success, and he quit drinking. He wrote an autobiography, "Hello Darlin", in 2001. When his wife developed Alzheimer's Disease, he stayed by her side until her death in 2011.

In 2011, he was approached about a revival of Dallas. His first question was, "Are all my friends going to be there?" The revival premiered in 2012 with most of the surviving series originals and fared well in the ratings. However, Hagman was diagnosed with throat cancer. He received treatment while he worked on the series, and it initially seemed successful. However, a new cancer diagnosis was revealed in 2012.

Hagman died at a Dallas hospital in November 2012 at age 81.

How to Navigate Your Medicare Options During the Annual Enrollment Period

The average Medicare beneficiary in 2023 has access to 43 Medicare Advantage plans, the largest number of options ever, according to KFF. With so many plans to choose from, the Medicare and Prescription Drug Plan Annual Enrollment Period (AEP), taking place from Oct. 15 to Dec. 7, may be overwhelming and confusing.

“The Medicare Annual Enrollment Period is when you can shop for a new plan, if you want to,” says Kate Long, consumer financial wellness advocate at Assurance IQ.

As Long points out, shopping for a new plan doesn’t necessarily mean you cannot stay with the same carrier. They may have multiple plans available in your area. The important thing is finding a Medicare Advantage plan that addresses your unique healthcare and budgetary needs. To help you navigate your options, consider these tips from Assurance IQ:

- The first tip is to review your Annual Notice of Change, which should have been mailed to you before Oct. 15. This document explains changes to your plan, such as providers, prescription drugs or services no longer covered. Make sure to review it carefully to understand if these changes could impact your plan benefits.

- Next, you’ll want to assess your healthcare needs and financial standing. Are there services you know that you’ll need in the coming year? If your finances have changed, can you still afford your current plan? Are you taking a new prescription that your current plan doesn’t cover?

- Now it may be time to shop around. Before enrolling in a plan, make sure that your preferred doctor, specialists and any prescriptions you need are covered. Ask which out-of-pocket costs you will be responsible for. It’s important to find an affordable plan for you.

- You could also speak with a licensed insurance agent about your needs. Prep for the conversation by having a list of your prescriptions on hand, having your Medicare card nearby, and having a list of your doctors and medical equipment you use. Knowing which company provides your medical equipment is also important. Be sure to also read the “Medicare & You” handbook that is mailed to all Medicare beneficiary households in late September.

You can also find it online by visiting medicare.gov/medicare-and-you.

Medicare options are more expansive than ever. And while that makes the Annual Enrollment Period more complicated, the upside is that by doing your homework, you’ll be more likely to find a plan that works for you.
